Cleaning of food processing plants, production lines, kitchens with 100% germ removal

In addition to cleaning, disinfection is always a very important aspect when cleaning food processing plants, as foodstuffs have to comply with very strict microbiological standards. In addition to organic and inorganic contaminants and deposits, viruses, bacteria, spores, fungi and other pathogens must also be destroyed.

We can provide perfect solutions in the following areas of the food industry:

- dairy
- the meat and poultry processing industry the canning industry
- catering, poultry and poultry processing
- sweet industry
- vegetable oil industry

Our specialists have also gained a great deal of experience in carrying out very specialised work in a professional manner. We have all the necessary qualifications, protective equipment and protective gear to work safely. It is very important to have the right training and use the right harnesses when working at heights of more than 2 metres. Anyone who operates the machine and works at height must have training, health and safety training, a medical examination and the necessary machine operator's certificate.

Licences and equipment are reviewed and recertified annually.

The aim of cleaning in public institutions is to create and maintain a pleasant and spotless working environment. Depending on the size and nature of the area and the number of employees/clients, we organise daily and periodic cleaning schedules according to the client's needs. As part of the daily and weekly cleaning of public buildings, the dusting, external cleaning of office machines, cleaning of external surfaces of kitchen machines are timed so as not to disturb employees and customers, i.e. mostly before or after working hours. In addition to the daily cleaning tasks, we also provide an on-call cleaner to remove unforeseen dirt (e.g. spilled coffee, soft drinks, etc.) and to clean the walkways of the common areas during rainy/winter weather. The on-call cleaner is also responsible for supplementing the daily cleaning tasks, e.g. spider netting, cleaning the edges of the floor, and anything else that reduces the need for periodic (general) cleaning and makes the offices more attractive. Cleaning of doors, windows and their frames, dusting of subfloors, tile cleaning, cleaning of surfaces under movable furniture with a detergent, complete furniture cleaning and surface treatment, cleaning of radiators, upholstery and carpets, blinds and relaxes, ribbon and traditional curtains, kitchen and other cupboards, fridges and microwaves. Alpine cleaning is also carried out at this time, which may also involve the exterior of the building, by arrangement.

- Cleaning always takes place outside working hours (weekends or at night).
- If required, we can also include the provision of hygiene products and utensils (toilet paper, hand towels, liquid soap) in the price of the contract or we can deliver them to our customers at a favourable price.
- The cleaning products, tools and machines are included in the price of the cleaning of public buildings, which is good because the client can count on a fixed cost in advance, on an annual basis.
- Our prices include the assigned area manager, team leader and cleaning staff depending on the size and nature of the area.
- Our staff have a uniform image, which is reflected in the work schedule and in the external features (uniform working clothes).
- The cleaning products we use comply in all respects with EU standards and regulations.
